DUBLIN, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Art O'Brien, former representative of the Dail Eireann in London, and Sean O'Kelly, who used to represent the Dail in Paris, were both arrested last evening, it was announced today.

DUBLIN, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—(3:00 p. m.)—Ten buildings in Sackville street, the Republican insurgent stronghold, were ablaze at this hour. The irregulars were still holding out in the Granville Hotel and were firing from the windows, surrounded by an inferno of flames. Five men, the last occupants of the Gresham Hotel have surrendered. The end of the battle is believed to be near.

The Gresham Hotel, in the Sackville street area, was blazing furiously at two o'clock this afternoon.

The fire which started in the Hammam Hotel, part of the irregulars' Sackville street stronghold, was extending early this afternoon in a southerly direction, enveloping the Hillman Bible Society building and the tramway office.

Although persons pass at that corner all hours of the day and night, and are lamps keep the vicinity well lighted, the robbery was not discovered until the store was opened this morning.

RAIL SHOPMEN'S STRIKE IN PICTURES

When Strikers Walked Out In Chicago

Edward F. Grable, president of the Maintenance of Way Employees' Union, with headquarters in Detroit. This union, although a strike vote was taken among its members, did not join with others in walking out July 1.

OTHER RAIL EMPLOYEES JOIN THE SHOPMEN

COLUMBUS, O., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Ranks of the striking railroad shop men were augmented here today by a walk-out of railroad clerks and freight handlers on the Norfolk and Western road. Officials of the clerks organization declared that between 75 and 100 men would be affected in Columbus.

In a statement given out at headquarters of the clerks' organization, it was said that while the union was not particularly strong in Columbus, the organization had responded 100 per cent to the strike call.

Railroad officials at the Norfolk and Western freight offices issued the following statement relative to the situation:

"So far as the company is concerned, we have not noticed the strike. Our men work in three shifts and thus far we have lost but ten men from the shifts which have reported since the strike was called."

"The walk-out of clerks and freight handlers was not called in Columbus by an official of the organization, but by a mere member and so far as we can learn it was only through sympathy for others that the men walked out. We are experiencing no trouble in taking care of our business, and are open and ready to accept all freight consigned to this railroad."

A committee of the striking shop men of the Norfolk and Western was in conference with the clerks' organization during the morning and it was announced that the two organizations had affiliated and would work together in the strike. The clerks are striking as a result of wage reductions and withdrawal of vacation and sick leave permits, they say.

NORFOLK, VA., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Norfolk Southern railroad has cancelled three of its passenger trains because the shop men's strike has made it necessary to conserve motive power, it was announced here today.

Clerks' Strike Not Sanctioned, Says Fitzgerald

CINCINNATI, O., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—It was announced at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employees here today that returns were being received on the strike vote on each railroad, but that the results will not be made public at this time. It was stated, however, that no strike had been sanctioned on any road by Grand President E. H. Fitzgerald. He has delegated Vice Grand President Richard P. Lee, of New Orleans, to investigate a reported strike on the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

CHICAGO, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Following the successful interference in the threatened walk-out of the maintenance of way brotherhood by members of the labor board yesterday, D. W. Helt, head of the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen, was called into conference with W. L. McMenamin, labor member of the board.

The signalmen are now taking a strike vote on approximately half of the roads, the power to call a strike, however, resting in the general committee of each system. Mr. Helt said that although his men were voting, there was little likelihood that a strike call would be issued immediately as the returns had not thus far justified it. Nevertheless, the board will seek to forestall any possibility of such action.

FORT WAYNE, IND., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The regional wage conference between the committee representing the shopmen and the Pennsylvania railroad, which was to have been resumed here today, was postponed indefinitely by an agreement between the employees and the road managers. Members of the committee stated today that no further meetings would be held until after the shopmen's strike is ended and that the 96 members of the committee will remain at their posts throughout this region.

CHICAGO, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Striking railway shop men, who walked out in answer to the nation-wide call from the headquarters of the six shop crafts unions here last Saturday, were reported drifting back to work today in groups of uncertain numbers.

Today was considered the turning point in the strike of the 350,000 to 400,000 workers. Although responding generally to the call last Saturday, railroad officials insisted that many of the defections were due to the desire of the men to take a holiday over the Fourth of July.

Local union reports to the office of E. H. Fitzgerald, head of the shopmen, reiterated the union assertion that the strike was 100 per cent effective at all points reporting.

Maintenance of way men, despite the decision of that union's executive council here last night to postpone strike action for the present, were also reported to be joining the walk-out. Such reports reached President Jewell's headquarters and were confirmed by news dispatches.

Freight handlers, clerks and stationery trimmen and others joined the deserting ranks of shop men at various points, although fully as many shops reported that men were returning to work today. The railroads generally were advertising for new men to take the strikers' places and several roads were completing arrangements to handle their repairs at outside shops.

Small disorders appeared at several points, mostly in the south, where numerous roads placed guards over their bridges and other vulnerable points.

Conflicting reports came from the Pennsylvania shops at Pittsburgh, both sides claiming gains today. Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and Baltimore and Ohio shops reported gains.

Double pickets were placed about the shops and yards at New York City and heavy picketing continued in Chicago.

The Union Pacific, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, N. C. and St. L., Georgian Railroad and Burlington and a dozen other roads issued fliers setting a final date on which the strikers must return to work or forfeit their seniority rights.

The first reported suspension of service, due to the strike, came from the Chicago and Northwestern, which announced annulment of several short run trains in Northern Illinois.

The maintenance of way union, whose officers yesterday decided to delay their threatened strike, received sympathy and congratulations of the striking railway shopmen from E. H. Jewell, the shop men's head, today. Mr. Jewell declared that the maintenance of way union's action was not a surprise and added that: "If they can find a way out of their difficulties they are to be congratulated."

The shop strikers are standing pat, Mr. Jewell said, and have not relinquished a single point. The farming out of shop work, he said, has not been done, despite the statement of a dozen railroad officials before the labor board last week that they would curtail all contracts.

"Their promises mean nothing," said Mr. Jewell.

Reports from various local unions received at union headquarters today affirmed the leader's statement that the walk-out was "practically 100 per cent."

At Huntington, W. Va., the Chesapeake and Ohio shops were reported "all out."

Hope that the striking shopmen would "recover their equilibrium and discern that it is vastly better for them to go along with the railroad labor board" was expressed in a letter to President Jewell today from Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the railroad labor board. The letter was a personal reply to the shop crafts' leader answering his communication to the board yesterday that the board had outlawed itself by outlawing the

President Harding Just A Plain Citizen In Home Town Says It's Great To Be Back

MARION, O., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—President Harding was just a plain citizen today in his own home town. Relieved from the burdens of his high office, he spent the day chipping with members of his family, some of his intimate friends and the boys at the Marion Star office.

Yesterday he addressed a huge crowd of "home folks" at the fair grounds, but today his only scheduled appearance in public was to review an historical parade, staged in connection with Marion's centennial celebration.

This was the president's first visit home since he left here on March 2, a year ago, for the White House, and he seemed to be keenly enjoying the role of a "plain Marionite" again.

Disillusioned by the high honors that have come to him, Mr. Harding told his audience at the fair grounds yesterday that he would welcome the day when he could come back to stay permanently.

"Some of you may think it's a fine thing to be president," he added. "Keep on thinking it—you'll find the situation very different when you wake up."

The president also expressed regret that he could not greet every one of his old time friends personally. Repeatedly as he stopped to grasp the hand of a crowd of pre-White House days, the president remarked that it was "great to be back."

While in Marion the president is a guest at the home of his father, Dr. G. T. Harding.

As in former days, he walked down town to the Marion Star office. Except for the presence of a small detail of secret service men following close behind, one would think that he was again on his way to do a day's work as editor of a newspaper.

The president and Mrs. Harding will leave Marion tomorrow on the first lap of their automobile trip to Washington.

OHIO GUARD OFFICERS ORDERED TO BE PREPARED FOR TROOP MOVEMENTS

COLUMBUS, O., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Because of reports of disorders in the coal fields of eastern Ohio, the adjutant general's office has ordered commanding officers of the Ohio National Guard to be prepared for possible troop movements.

The adjutant general's office said this morning that these orders to commanding officers were verbal and pointed out that state officials had been receiving reports of disorders.

Chalmers Wilson, of Columbus, representing Adjutant General Florence, went to St. Clairsville, O., yesterday to begin an official investigation there.

According to reports reaching here, the disorders resulted from attempts of striking miners to stop the operation of strip mines in Belmont county.

The latest outbreak was Monday night, when Charles Meyers, a mine guard, was shot and beaten by several hundred strikers and eleven cars of coal were destroyed.

Under the verbal orders, the commanding officers were asked to make arrangements to receive quick calls.

The verbal orders did not provide for any preparation in getting equipment in order or for the mobilization of troops at armories.

Chalmers Wilson, of Columbus, representing Adjutant General Florence, went to St. Clairsville, O., yesterday to begin an official investigation there.

Love For Horses Brings Masterpiece

NEW YORK, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Christopher J. Fitzgerald has loved horses all his life and he has spent most of his life looking at them, either as a follower of racing or as an official of the Jockey Club. His affection even goes so far that he wants pictures of horses around him. Recently he saw in an auction room a painted study of several horses and bid $45,000 to get it. He took the painting home and had it cleaned and discovered he had purchased a work of Isaac VanOstade, a Dutch master of the seventeenth century. An offer of $250,000 has been made for the painting, but Mr. Fitzgerald says it is not for sale.

Negro Excursionists Thrown Into Panic

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—More than 500 negro excursionists were thrown into a near state of panic last night when police and revenue officers seized the Madison Hall, a 400-foot steamer plying between Washington and a Potomac river resort, after discovery of what was said to be a large quantity of liquor aboard. Otis Holmes, negro owner of the steamer, which was valued at $100,000, was arrested on a charge of illegal possession and selling of liquor.

G. O. P. May Hold Its Convention In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—A strong sentiment has been created among chiefs of the Republican party in favor of San Francisco as the scene of the 1924 national convention, according to word received here from Robert L. Webb, executive secretary of the San Francisco Convention League, who is in the east. Reports that the Democratic convention delegates, who nominated James M. Cox here in 1920, had been entertained very satisfactorily were said to be influencing the Republicans.

Under the verbal orders, the commanding officers were asked to make arrangements to receive quick calls.

First Woman Striker

Mrs. Lucy Nelson, car cleaner for the Great Northern road at St. Paul, claims to be the first woman striker in the shopmen's walkout. She walked out of a car, leaving it half-cleaned, a half minute before the 10 o'clock hour set for the strike to begin, she says.

German Railways Show Unusual Rehabilitation

BERNE, SWITZERLAND, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The 15,000 freight cars and 5,000 locomotives delivered to France by Germany since the armistice already have been replaced by new material, according to a Swiss delegate, who has just returned from Berlin, where he attended a technical conference of railway men. So extraordinary has been the progress in the construction of rolling stock in Germany, this expert declares, that by August 1, the German railways will be as well equipped as they were at the outbreak of the war so far as the quantity of rolling stock is concerned, while the quality will be superior.

Broken Parachute Belt Causes Flier's Death

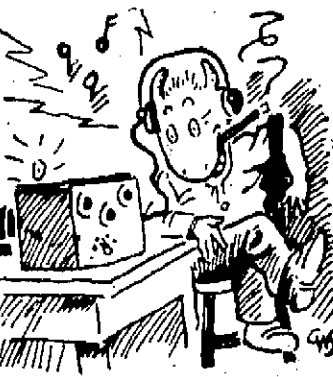

JOPLIN, MO., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—A broken parachute belt told the story today of the cause of the death of William Spain, a "stunt" flier, who fell 2,000 feet when he leaped from a plane watched by 5,000 spectators at Seneca, 20 miles from here, late yesterday. Nearly every bone in Spain's body was broken.

M. V. Smoot, of Joplin, was pilot of the plane from which Spain leaped to his death. Smoot said today that as nearly as he was able to observe, the belt broke and the parachute failed to unfold from the metal container. Spain's body fell only a few hundred feet clear of the crowd.

PIKETON, July 5.—Messrs. Anderson & Brown, contractors of Chillicothe, have been awarded the contract for building one-half mile of concrete pike and two concrete bridges on the Scioto Trail near the old Prairie school house between Pike-ton and Waverly. The contract was awarded by the State Highway Department to the above mentioned firm for $22,500, their bid being the lowest one submitted. The Waverly Construction Company of Waverly was one of the unsuccessful bidders. The two bridges when completed will take care of the water which covers the Prairie road when the Scioto is at flood stage and which has been very annoying to the traveling public.

Band Concerts Are Practically Assured

Should the plans inaugurated at the Wednesday meeting of the Kiwanis club, held at the Mary Louise, not miscarry, Portsmouth people will be treated to at least eight band concerts this summer. A committee consisting of George W. Freund, William Schwartz and F. W. Sheridan was named to complete recommendations and arrange for these concerts, which will be given in local parks on Sunday afternoons. The plan has not progressed sufficiently to permit making any definite statements or to take the public into the confidence of the club. Suffice it to say that the scheme looks perfectly feasible and something positive and definite will be given out within a very short time.

At the meeting Wednesday, the club members listened to a very able and timely address by Rev. Gerald Culbertson, pastor of the First Christian church. Rev. Culbertson, imbued with the patriotic spirit of the times, was listened to very attentively and impressed his hearers with the force of his talk. He advised a little more caution and a reverence for the spirit of the founders of this government, who placed their all upon the altar of their country, but who were led by their God and who entrusted implicitly in Providence. Rev. Culbertson was the guest of the club and was introduced to the members by F. W. Sheridan. The speaker was warmly felicitated upon the excellence of his address and made to feel that the contribution he had made for the benefit of the membership was of untold benefit to them. He was assured of a most royal and hearty welcome at any time.

Charles Bradford, who it will be recalled, was formerly employed at the Selby Shoe Co., but who for the past eighteen years has been a resident of California, was also present at the meeting and made a few choice remarks. He stated that since his departure Portsmouth had made home noticeable strides, but was assured by President B. F. Dillon that while it was quite easy to see a noticeable improvement in the city, it would pay all to keep an eye on the future—for some great steps forward would shortly be taken and Portsmouth would some of these days be a city of which the whole state would be extremely proud.

Mr. and Mrs. Burle Burke of Franklin Furnace, entertained with a family gathering yesterday at their beautiful country home, all of their family being home. At noon the dinner was spread on the lawn when all enjoyed the good things to eat. The evening was enjoyed in looking at fireworks. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Gus Brown of Scioto Trail, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Arthur and children, John and Rowena, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Buch, Mr. and Mrs. Anson Jones and son, William, and James Conroy all of Portsmouth. Grange And Farm Bureau Outing At Fair Grounds Is A Splendid Success

Hundreds of farmers and their families from all parts of the county thronged the Lucasville fair grounds Tuesday when the second annual Grange and Farm Bureau outing was held, starting at 9 o'clock in the morning. This year's picnic was voted a big success by all who attended and next year's outing is expected to be bigger and better. The picnic is to be an annual affair. The crowd was estimated at 2300. Music during the day was furnished by the Sedan band and the Ohio Valley Grange band from the West Side. The committee in charge saw to it that there was not a dull moment from 9 in the morning until 5 in the evening. There were various athletic stunts and fun making entertainment that kept the crowd moving. One of the big hits in the entertainment line was the chicken driving contest in which officials of the Grange and Farm Bureau participated. Vallee Harold won the race with his red ribboned black hen, said to have been especially trained for this big race. "Dad" W. J. Shannon and S. V. Selby, two other contestants had a hot start. Their "steeds" got into a tangle that delayed them long enough to allow Mr. Harold to drive his hen across the line a winner. "Dad" Shannon claims he would have won hands down had Selby kept his hen on the right track. Geo. Zaler of Lucasville did not even make a start with his entry. His hen refused to move from the start. Grass whips were used by the drivers to chase their hens over the race course. The old fiddler's contest was won by Robert Fields, who was presented with a $2.50 gold piece. Many old

WOMAN DROPS DEAD

Mrs. Roscoe Harry of Columbus arrived in Waverly late Saturday night enroute to Given Station. The county, suffered a heart attack on the street on her way to the home of a relative in Waverly and a short time later died. She was going to Given Station to visit her grandfather, Philip Barnett, who was ill and died Tuesday noon.

Mrs. Harry, who was formerly Miss Irene Litterst of Waverly, arrived in that village on N. & W. train No. 4 about 11:15 Saturday night. She was subject to heart attacks and suffered one of those attacks when she reached Main and Second streets, Waverly, a square from the court house. She was found on the street corner in a dying condition by Jacob Slavens about 2:15 o'clock and he assisted her to a nearby lunch room where she died five minutes later. Papers in her purse contained her name and relatives were located by that means. Mrs. Harry was born and reared in Waverly and persons who were present when she died or who arrived soon after knew she was a niece of Mrs. August Reed of that village. Mr. Reed was notified and he identified the body as that of his wife's niece.

The dead woman's husband was notified and then it was learned that she was enroute to Given Station to visit her grandfather. Tuesday noon her grandfather died after a lingering illness. He was about 70 years of age and leaves a widow and three children. Most of his life had been spent at Given Station. Mrs. Harry had been married about three years and had spent most of that time in Columbus. Besides her husband she leaves her father, Calvin Litterst of Jefferson City, Mo., and a brother, Wales, of Waverly.

A double funeral will be held Thursday morning at ten o'clock at Given Station.

ton through Portsmouth and to the West Side and was nearly up with the automobile he was chasing when his machine skidded and threw him to the road. The motorcycle was slightly damaged.

Oak Hill Team Wins From Portsmouth Murels

The Murels of this city went to Oak Hill Tuesday to play two ball games but only completed one of the contests.
The morning game ended in the third inning when Manager Hodge called the Murels from the field. The locals claim they had made a run and which the umpire refused to count 3 and 2 up until the eighth when after two were down a local outfielder dropped a fly ball and allowed two Oak Hill runners to score. An out of town man umpired the second game. The Murels play the Kentucky Browns next week.

Peebles Wins Two Games

PEEBLES, O., July 5.—Playing before a crowd of about three thousand spectators, Peebles blanked the fast Lucasville club 4 to 0 in the first game, and triumphed Sunday in the game of 4 to 1 in the second game on the Peebles diamond July fourth. Peebles gained a lead early in each game and held it. Lewis, Fields, Williamson and Riffe treated the crowd to some real high class pitching, allowing only 22 hits in the two games. Professor Thorowdon and his eighty piece band kept the bunch full of pep and put the "quietus" on Charlie Thomas, Peebles official coach. The Lucasville and Seaman clubs are composed of real men that play square ball and quit only when the third man is down in the ninth inning. Can more be said? The box score:
James Luther, aged 12, accidentally shot himself through the left hand Monday. Having found a blank cartridge pistol and some 22 cartridges he whittled the bullets down to the proper size of the gun, and was shot through the hand, due to an accidental discharge of the gun. He was attended by Dr. W. E. Gault, who stated that the injuries were not serious.

Missing Man's Body Found In River; "Suicide Is The Theory Of Relatives"

Missing since Saturday, the body of David Darnell, married, and the father of five children, was found floating in the Ohio river about opposite the county infirmary on the West Side Monday afternoon about two o'clock. The body was found by Vernon McQuillen of 205 Front street, who was crossing the river in a skiff. The body was removed to Lynn's morgue and identification was made several hours later by a brother, James Darnell, who called at the morgue after reading in the Monday evening Times that the body of an unidentified man had been found in the Ohio river just below the city.

Relatives believe that Darnell took his own life, as he had been despondent for some time over his continued ill health. Coroner J. D. Hendrickson rendered a verdict of accidental drowning. Just where he entered the river is unknown to relatives who have been making an effort to trace his movements since he left the home of his brother, Oakie Darnell, 822 Prospect street, Saturday evening about 7 o'clock. Just before leaving his brother's home where he had been making his home, Darnell said he was going fishing.

Early Saturday evening Darnell gave his brother Oakie all of his money and clothes, and asked Oakie if he could wear his shirts. He then changed clothes, putting on an old pair of overalls, old black saten shirt and an old hat. He had frequently spoken of disposing of his property and just recently gave one of his brothers the key to his safety deposit box in a Youngstown bank. He also gave him the key to his room in a Youngstown rooming house. Darnell had worked in a Youngstown steel plant until about six months ago when ill health forced him to quit work.

Missing Since Saturday
When he did not come home Saturday evening, the family became alarmed, and conducted a search for him, but being unable to locate him, decided that he had either gone to look for work, or had gone to visit some friends out of the city.

The first the family knew of his death was when his brother, James, made the identification at the morgue and called for two other brothers to come to the morgue so that the identification could be made positive.

Saw Body Floating
McQuillen, who found the body, said that he was returning from the Kentucky side of the river to his camp, which is located near where the body was found, and noticed it floating in the water. He fastened his grab hook in the clothing and towed the body ashore, notifying Coroner J. D. Hendrickson immediately.

The man's body was badly swollen and disfigured, being bruised in places where it had been struck by floating debris.

Darnell is the father of five children. The weather man remained on the job this year and handed out an ideal brand for the Fourth of July. The day was cool and fair and all that could be desired. Although the city's population was greatly decreased by many leaving the city for the day, many others came here for visits and the downtown streets and parks therefore retained their lively air. Business was virtually suspended for the holiday, the cigar stands and fruit and confectionery stores being the only ones to remain open.

Boy Shot In Hip Only Local
Victim Of "Safe And Sane" Fourth

As the toll is taken each year the day following the Fourth of July it is found that the number of accidents and fires are decreasing in this city. Portsmouth experienced a safe celebration of the Fourth, only a small number of minor accidents being reported while the fire department did not receive a single call. According to Fire Chief Leonard it has been many years since the firemen did not respond to at least one call on the Fourth. The hard rain of Monday is thought to have lessened the danger of fires.

The sale of fireworks this year was as big if not bigger than usual but it seems that the explosives were used more safely than ever for the number of accidents this year was unusually small in comparison with former years. Many families left the city for outings in the country or in other cities. The fact that two of the shoe factories closed down Saturday and did not resume until today allowed many to go on a several days camping trip over the Fourth. Many motor parties left the city just for the day and spent the day at nearby summer resorts where safe and sane celebrations were enjoyed.

Boy Shot In Hip
Myron, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Williams of 1208 Chillicothe street was the victim of the most serious accident of the Fourth reported to a physician for treatment. He was shot in the right hip about 9:30 o'clock last night while in the backyard of his home.

Young Williams had spent the day at camp and had not been home more than five minutes when he was mysteriously shot. He was on the way to the stable to get some eggs when he heard the report of a gun and felt a stinging sensation in his right hip. He returned to the house and when his parents investigated they found a bullet had passed through his trousers just above his right hip pocket. He was taken to the office of Dr. J. W. Fitch where the physician probed for the bullet without locating it. Judging from the size of the hole in the clothing and the wound in the hip the bullet was probably from a 22 calibre revolver. Another effort was to be made today to find the bullet.

The parents are at a loss to account for the source of the bullet. It is thought that someone in between the Williams home and the house next door fired the shot but a search of the neighborhood by the police failed to reveal anyone.

The neighbors had retired and they did not hear anyone in their yard. The bullet could not have come from a gun fired on the street or in the alley on account of the way the lad was shot. The Williams boy says the report of the gun sounded like the other side of the backyard fence and that someone in hiding must have fired the shot.

Victim Of Shooting Succumbs To Wounds

CINCINNATI, O., July 5.—Scott Bredwell, 35, who was shot at his home Monday by William Dean, of Wixom, Michigan, who then killed himself, died today. Dean came to Cincinnati Sunday from his Michigan home with the intention of killing his divorced wife, who had rented an apartment at Bredwell's home. Although he fired half a dozen shots from two revolvers at his former wife, before he began shooting at Bredwell, the woman escaped unhurt. Coroner D. C. Hadley probably will drop his investigation of the case, now that Bredwell is dead. The coroner was not convinced that Dean killed himself, although all circumstances pointed to suicide.

The Deans were divorced six months and after Mrs. Dean came to Cincinnati with one of her six children.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

DEAR MISS WISE—Last week you answered the question of a young miss who wanted to know something about country life in comparison with that in the city. Of course, you may not have been entirely sincere in your answer, because I have read many wherein you express a decided humor. But that is somewhat unbecoming a wise person dealing in advice, especially to the lovers who, you ought to know, take everything seriously. True, you are asked a multitude of very silly questions that undoubtedly tax your ability to answer seriously. This city girl, I recall, had requested information and advice concerning her adaptability to farm life, having been proposed to by a well-to-do farmer who seemed O. K., except that he was a farmer. Perhaps his shoes weren't shined the last time he came to town because the roads were muddy that day. No, that couldn't be. Well-to-do farmers have machines as good as any seen in the city. Therefore her only objection to being a farmer's wife (if it is an objection at all) is that farmers live on farms and farms are generally thought to be somewhere between this place and that place, you turn to your left off the main road at the cross roads store, there two miles further, turn to your right, up a hill, down into the valley and there's your farm! More alive, yet infinitely more peaceful than any city home. And as the so-called "noises" of the country well, I'm on a farm where there's quite a variety of sounds being heard continually, but here's the point—these sounds are musical, distinctly so, to the person who approaches and dwells in the country with the right spirit. Take the one who recognizes that in the hurry and scurry of city life it is easy to lose oneself, but out in the open spaces, apart from the crowd, there it is possible to find oneself and that's the best in life! Stop and give it a thought. Most people know something or much of everyone but themselves and the primary requirement of acquiring happiness is, according to sages innumerable—knowing yourself. It's false philosophy to claim that the busy city affords you the opportunity to learn just who and what you are—there's too much distraction and gilded ambition and there's too much to learn. But enough of that. Consider that in this day and age we need not be torn between enjoying the life-giving atmosphere of the country or indulging in the life-taking environment of the city. It is not impossible to combine the two, to break your bread on the farm, yet buy it baked in the city. When you stop to think that a very beautiful countryside is in many cases only thirty or forty minutes from the heart of town, it's not a paramount matter to decide after all. In conclusion, let me say that the young lady who asked you about the country ought to ask herself a question which only she herself can answer. If she loves this farmer, his title being a farmer will have nothing to do with her decision to accept him. Most of life's problems depend upon the way we tackle them. Not a few are many-sided and like the windows of a big house we may choose one or the other to look into. Now Miss Wise, do not think that I believe you were wrongly named. No, indeed. Most of the advice and information you impart is of better quality than I ever hope to equal. My sole purpose in this writing is to try to increase the respect city people should have for the country. Certainly it isn't hard to understand that were it not for the country, the farms, there couldn't be much of the city, while on the other hand, farmers have existed before cities. That is why I sincerely hope that you will publish this, disregarding its length.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mrs. Woodchuck saw the little fairy doctor and the Twins coming

EVERYBODY in all Whispering Forest and Bright Meadowland tried to keep Dr. Snuffles and his helpers, Nobby and Nick, from getting as far as Marty Mink's house.

Marty had swallowed a fish-bone, and as long as it stuck in his throat he couldn't eat bite. That tickled all the wood-folk and meadow-folk mightily for no one's life was safe when Marty was hungry and around looking for a meal.

Mrs. Woodchuck saw the little fairy doctor and the Twins coming. She waited until they got opposite her front door and then—

"Oh, oh, oh!" she cried. "Oh, oh! Somebody help! Quick!"

Marty Mink and his fish-bone flew out of Dr. Snuffles' head. He hurried into Mrs. Woodchuck's hall and right back to his sitting-room.

"What's the matter? Who's hurt?" he called. And then he spied Mrs. Woodchuck, rocking herself back and forth in a corner and wailing.

"It's my thumb!" cried Mrs. Woodchuck. "I was putting in a nail when the hammer slipped and—oh, oh, oh, you'll have to fix it, doctor."

"My, oh, my!" exclaimed the doctor. "That's too bad! Let me see it. Why, there isn't a mark! Are you sure this is the right thumb?"

"Of course," declared Mrs. Woodchuck, fairly. "It's my right hand, isn't it?"

Poor Dr. Snuffles fixed Mrs. Woodchuck's thumb.

Then the three started for Marty's house again.

But some more things were to happen.

MARRIAGE A LA MOIE

Early marriages in this county rarely have the sanction of the parents, but among the Cambodiennes, daughters of high caste are committed to the king's harem at the age of eight.

They do not come out and are never allowed to leave the royal precincts until unmistakable signs of old age have manifested themselves—say at the age of 19, when a girl is no longer considered desirable.

P. S.—You must be terribly lonesome, when you had to resort to your typewriter for amusement while on that wonderful vacation. I'll bet you'll be glad to get back to the bright lights when your month is up.

DEAR DOLLY—Will you kindly tell me the correct pronunciation of the word "Porte-cochere"? I am not sure I have even spelled it correctly as it is not in the dictionary.

THANK YOU
You probably mean portiere which is pronounced por-ti-er.

DEAR DOLLY—Do you think a girl that is not 16 years old, yet should talk about the boys?

A SISTER
You might as well try to stop the sun from shining as to stop the average 16 year old girl from talking about the boys. However it won't hurt her to talk about them if that is as far as she goes.

ADVICE—I can't do anything for you unless you send me your name and address. I won't print it in the paper but I must have it for my own information.

WHOM SHALL MOLLY MARRY?

WHEELER AND BILLY BREAK; MOLLY IN STORM CENTER

—BY ZOE BECKLEY

Refusing to give a definite answer to a proposal from BEN WHEELER, manufacturer, MOLLY WAYNE accepts work in his factory. Wheeler surprises her working over blueprints with BILLY BAIRDON, architect and admirer of Molly. Wheeler has saved Molly from a hasty elopement with DONALD MANNING, actor.

THE next morning Ben Wheeler sent for Molly. A glovering look was on his face. Billy's plans were spread on the table, and Billy himself sat stiffly beside them, his jaw set rigidly, a pencil in nervous fingers. Molly greeted him warily, but with a look of anxiety.

"I don't see anything in these blueprints," said Ben Wheeler, glancing sharply at Molly.

"This walling-room with the panning—and this here rail, I can't see why—"

He went on monotonously with his destructive criticism of the details Billy and Molly had planned so jealously the evening before.

It was the point of view of the man who cuts away every touch of grace in behalf of rigid economy and utility, shearing the east, but making the whole a stark product.

Dashed and astonished, Molly finally, in pause, ventured a small remark.

"But it will all be so—so hard. That panning—"

"This is a business office," interrupted Ben, "not a beauty parlor."

A stiff, self-conscious silence fell. Molly knew Ben was to some degree voicing his own taste, but largely a disparagement of Barton, feeling in him a new, if vague, rivalry.

Misses Ada and Kate Viers of 2302 Vinton avenue entertained Mr. and Mrs. Gus H. Barlow, of Columbus, and Mrs. Rose Kress and Miss Mary Kress Monday evening with a six o'clock dinner. Mrs. Barlow was formerly Miss Ruth Miller, whose father, Reverend W. H. Miller, was at one time District Superintendent of the Methodist churches in the Portsmouth District.

Miss Rosalie Hooper, deputy collector at the local Internal Revenue Office, will leave tomorrow for Poets to spend her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hooper. Deputy Collector M. C. Grant will be in charge of the local office during her absence.

Mrs. Samuel Rosenthal of Fifth street, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rosenthal of Ashland, Ky., have returned from a several weeks' visit in Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago, and their former home, Atlanta, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Klingman of Sunnyside and George and Helen Grassman of Franklin Boulevard and Miss Lena Schirman and Gretchen Schirman of Elzabeth street motored to Maple Grove Springs yesterday and spent the day.

Misses Lillian Rorer, Edna Gray, Vivian Holmes, Emma and Sue Caser, Messrs. Gus Doyle, Luther Humphrey, Jeff Casey, Bryan and Thomas Hoffman motored to Rome, Sunday, and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown.

I'm doing what I can to convert them to a plain, serviceable building with no gingerbread about it. Nothing personal, you understand. But I believe in keeping business and friendship—unmixed."

Barton flushed. Molly thought she sensed what was passing through his mind.

"I wonder," he said with a trace of bitterness, glancing at Ben. "Well, you needn't. Ben's voice was low, but the fighting blaze was in his eyes."

"In fact, old friend as you are, Bill, I've just decided to cancel my agreement to have you do the plans for my works."

Molly caught her breath. But with a sort of fierce exultation she had not thought was in him, Billy took a step toward Ben:

"Good!" he cried. "That makes it all open and above board. I don't want your damned work. But I'm going to haul you into court for breach of contract just for the satisfaction of the scrap."

"Then I'll drag you into the open on that C. of C. competition and we'll make it a jolly bitter-end shindy. May the best man win."

And with a quick goodby to Molly he shuffled from the room.

WHEN you look at a 30x3 1/2 USCO at $10.90 think back for a minute as far as you can remember USCO.

The truth is that men have always found USCO an outstanding money's worth no matter what its price.

Today at $10.90 USCO maintains its established standard of quality.

And because of the new price, it sets a new index of tire value.

Men who have used USCO have never been inclined to measure its value by the general run of tires. Since last fall, when USCO established the $10.90 price range they have recognized it as a value beyond any possible comparison.

A still greater money's worth than even USCO itself had reached before.

SCARAMOUCHE

by Rafael Sabatini

BEGIN HERE TODAY
To escape hanging on the charge of sedition, ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU flees from his native town of Gavrilac and conceals his identity by joining a band of strolling players in which he makes a great success in the part of SCARAMOUCHE.

His flight has caused him to delay revenge on the great and powerful MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AZAY, who tricked Andre-Louis' dearest friend, PHILIPPE DE VILMORIN, into a duel and then killed him because he feared the idealist's "dangerous gift of eloquence."

Over the dead body of his friend, Andre-Louis swore to carry on the work of reforming the lot of the down-trodden peasants. Scaramouche, as he is now called, falls in love with CLIMENE, daughter of MONSIEUR BINET, the owner of the troupe. They become engaged and Andre-Louis has forgotten ALINE DE KERCADIOL, the friend of his childhood, who horrified him by listening to the suit of the Marquis. While walking with Climene, he unexpectedly meets Aline.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
Coming later into that upstairs room that was common to all the troupe, Andre-Louis found M. Binet talking loudly and vehemently, as he entered Binet broke off short, and wheeled to face him.

"I await your explanation of the disgraceful scene you provoked to-night."
"Disgraceful? Is it disgraceful that the public should applaud me?"
"The public? The rabble, you mean. After the play tonight M. de la Tour d'Azay came to me, and spoke to me in the severest terms about your scandalous outburst. I was forced to apologize and..."
"The more fool you," said Andre-Louis. "A man who respects himself would have shown that gentleman the door." M. Binet's face began to purplify.

"And I say further," Andre-Louis went on, "that a man who respects himself, on quite other grounds, would have been only too glad to have seized this pretext to show M. de la Tour d'Azay the door."
"What do you mean by that?" There was a rumble of thunder in the question.

Andre-Louis' eyes swept round the company assembled at the supper-table. "Where is Climene?" he asked, sharply.
Leandre kept up to answer him, white in the face, tense and quivering with excitement.
"She left the theater in the Marquis de la Tour d'Azay's carriage immediately after the performance. We heard him offer to drive her to this inn."

"That would be an hour ago—rather more. And she has not yet arrived?"
"Not yet."
"Ah!" Andre-Louis sat down, and poured himself wine. There was an oppressive silence in the room.

Platters were pushed toward him. He helped himself calmly to food, and ate in silence, apparently with a good appetite.

At long length came a rumble of wheels below and a rattle of halting hoofs. Then voices, the high, thrilling laugh of Climene floating upward. Andre-Louis went on eating unconcerned.

She came in, a leading lady taking the stage, head high, chin thrust forward, eyes dancing with laughter; she expressed triumph and arrogance. Her cheeks were flushed, and there was some disorder in the mass of nut-brown hair that crowned her head. In her left hand she carried an enormous bouquet of white carnations. On its middle finger a diamond of great price drew almost at once by its effulgence the eyes of all.

Her father sprang to meet her with an unusual display of paternal tenderness. "At last, my child!"

judge that jewel at this distance; worth a formidable sum even to so wealthy a nobleman as M. de la Tour d'Azay. Would it be impertinent in one who has some notion of becoming your husband, to ask you, mademoiselle, what you have given him in return?"

M. Binet uttered a gross laugh, a queer mixture of cynicism and contempt.

"I have given nothing," said Climene, indignantly.

"Ah! Then the jewel is in the nature of a payment in advance."

"My God, man, you're not decent!" M. Binet protested.

"Decent?" Andre-Louis' smoldering eyes turned to discharge upon M. Binet such a fulmination of contempt that the old scoundrel shifted uncomfortably in his chair. "Did you mention decency, Binet? Almost you make me lose my temper." Slowly his glance returned to Climene. "Mademoiselle," he said, slowly, "I

"AND NOW YOU'VE GOT YOUR ANSWER," CHUCKLED BINET. "I HOPE YOU LIKE IT."

He conducted her to the table, she sank into a chair, a little wearily, a little nervously, but the smile did not leave her face, not even when she glanced across at Scaramouche.

Andre-Louis, however, still went on eating stolidly, without so much as a look in her direction. Gradually the company came to realize that just as surely as a scene was brooding, just as surely would there be no scene as long as they remained in the room but M. Binet, his daughter, and Andre-Louis. And then, at last, Andre-Louis set down his knife and fork, washed his throat with a draught of burgundy, and sat back in his chair to consider Climene.

"I trust," said he, "that you had a pleasant ride, mademoiselle."

"Most pleasant, monsieur." Impudently she strove to emulate his composure, but did not completely succeed. "And not unpleasant, if I may desire you purely in your own interests to consider whether you are going."

"I am well able to consider for myself, and to decide without advice from you, monsieur."

"And now you've got your answer," chuckled Binet. "I hope you like it."

Andre-Louis had paled a little; there was incredulity in his great sombre eyes as they continued steadily to regard her. Of M. Binet he took no notice.

"I bow to your choice, mademoiselle. I pray that you may not regret it."

"Regret it?" cried M. Binet. He was laughing, relieved to see his daughter at last rid of this sultry of whom he had never approved, if we except those few hours when he really believed him to be an eccentric of distinction. "And what shall she regret? That she accepted the protection of a nobleman so powerful and wealthy that as a mere trinket he gives her a jewel worth as much as an actress earns in a year at the Comedie Francaise?"

Andre-Louis looked at him in silence for a long moment. Then he laughed again. "Oh, you are fantastic," he said. "You are not real." He turned on his heel and strode to the door.

Andre-Louis turned his hand upon the door-handle. "No," he said, "I was mistaken. You are not fantastic. You are just vile—both of you." And he went out.

CHAPTER X
TWENTY-FOUR hours with La Binet had been more than enough for the fastidious and discerning taste of M. de la Tour d'Azay. He looked back upon the episode with nausea—marveling at himself that until yesterday he should have found her so desirable, and cursing himself that for the sake of that ephemeral and worthless gratification he should seriously have imperiled his chances of winning Made-moiselle de Kercadiol to wife.

The Chevalier de Chabrilaine sat opposite to him in the enormous traveling berline. As they were rattling over the cobbles of Nantes' streets, he remembered a promise to La Binet to witness her performance that night in "The Filibuster Lover." He had led the mercenary little strumpet—it was thus he thought of her at present, and with some justice—to expect favors from him in addition to the lavish awards which already he had made her. The baggage had almost sought to drive a bargain with him as to her future. It became necessary now to come to an understanding, since he was compelled to choose between his trivial passion for her—a passion quenched already—and his deep, almost spiritual devotion to Made-moiselle de Kercadiol.

He pulled the cord. The carriage rolled to a standstill, a footman appeared at the door.

"To the Theater Foucaud," said he. The great traveling-carriage drew up at the lighted portals of the Foucaud, and M. le Marquis stepped out. He entered the theater with Chabrilaine, all unconscious of delivering himself into the hands of Andre-Louis.

In the interval after the second act, Andre-Louis sought the dressing-room shared by Polichinelle and Rhodomet. Polichinelle was in the act of changing.

"I shouldn't trouble to change," he said. "The piece isn't likely to go beyond my opening scene of the next act with Leandre."

He was gone. Rhodomet stared at Polichinelle. Polichinelle stared at Rhodomet.

As they approached the wings a roar of applause met them coming from the audience. It was applause and something else; applause on an unusual note. As it faded away they heard the voice of Scaramouche ringing clear as a bell:

"And so you see, my dear M. Leandre, that when you speak of the Third Estate, it is necessary to be more explicit. What precisely is the Third Estate?"

"Nothing," said Leandre.

There was a gasp from the audience, audible in the wings, and then swiftly followed Scaramouche's next question:

"True. Alas! But what should it be?"

"Everything," said Leandre.

The audience roared its acclamations.

"True again," said Scaramouche. "And what is more, that is what it will be. Do you doubt it?"

"I hope it," said the schooled Leandre.

"You may believe it," said Scaramouche, and again the acclamations rolled into thunder.

Polichinelle and Rhodomet exchanged glances; the former winked, without mirth.

"He doubts it," he was telling the audience. Shall I convince him? Shall I tell him how I company of noblemen backed by their servants under arms—six hundred men in all—sought to dictate to the Third Estate of Rennes? Must I remind him of the martial front shown by the Third Estate, and how they swept the streets clean of that rabble of nobles—cette canaille noble..."

"Assassin! Scoundrel! Coward! Traitor!"

But he braved the storm, smiling upon them his ineffable contempt.

In the pit, pandemonium was already raging. Blows were being freely exchanged; there were scuffling groups; and here and there swords were being drawn, but fortunately the press was too dense to permit of their being used effectively.

Men fell quickly into groups representative of one side or the other of this great quarrel that already was beginning to agitate the whole of France. Their rallying cries were ringing through the theater.

"Down with the canaille!" from some.

"Down with the privileged!" from others.

And then above the general din one cry rang out sharply and insistently: "To the box! Death to the butcher of Rennes! Death to La Tour d'Azay!"

There was a rush for one of the doors of the pit that opened upon the staircase leading to the boxes.

M. Binet succeeded in breaking past Polichinelle and Rhodomet. Half a dozen gentlemen, inhabitants of the green-room, had come round to the stage to disembody the knave who had created this riot, and it was they who had flung aside these two cordons who had hung upon Binet.

After him they came now, their swords out; but after them again came Polichinelle, Rhodomet, Harlequin, Pierrot, Panspagnol, armed with such implements as they could hastily snatch up, and intent upon slaying the man with whom they sympathized in spite of all.

Well ahead called Binet, swinging

FATHER TAKES UP HIS SON'S QUARREL AND MEETS DEATH

Tom Brewer Is Victim Of Tragedy At White Bear; Gun User Also Wounded

Thomas Brewer, aged 56, a well-known resident of the West End, was almost instantly killed at 7:30 Tuesday night when he was shot through the body, he passing away as he was being carried out of an ambulance into Hempstead hospital.

George Stephenson, aged 48, who has a wife and four children, occupies a cell in the city prison and faces a charge of first degree murder. He is being accused of firing the fatal shot.

The shooting occurred in the White Bear Hotel, Second and Madison streets and considerable mystery was attached to the affair until Stephenson broke down and admitted before Chief Distel, Officer Dan Miller and newspapermen that he shot Brewer. When first arrested he steadfastly refused to admit a bullet from his 32 Harrington and Richardson gun had snuffed out the life of Brewer, but when confronted with the fact that there was an empty cartridge in the chamber of his gun he mumbled a few words incoherently and then admitted he fired the shot.

Claims A Case Of Two On One

"It was a case of two on one and when I saw I was cornered I shot," Stephenson said last night. He stated that Tom Brewer had hit him over the head and when he ran back through a hall, Brewer and his son Russell, followed him and when the elder Brewer caught him he fired.

Just as Stephenson sent a bullet in Brewer's side the latter's son, Russell (Shag) Brewer whipped out his gun and fired at Stephenson, the bullet passing through the latter's arm near the elbow. Brewer was arrested shortly after he shot Stephenson and he is charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Officials learned that Stephenson had Russell Brewer, who were not on friendly terms had trouble most of the day yesterday and almost came to blows in the morning and later in the day, friends separating them. Brewer accused Stephenson of telling officers that he had taken moonshine into the White Bear, which was stoutly denied by Brewer. Stephenson has a crippled leg and he says Brewer amused himself yesterday by tossing giant fire crackers at it. Brewer and Stephenson had another of a series of arguments in the soft drink place a few minutes before the shooting, and Stephenson went up stairs and got his gun. Coming back to the soft drink parlor he was intercepted by young Brewer's father who had just come in from his home on Front street.

Fired When He Was Caught

The father who was 6 feet 6 inches tall hit Stephenson on the head. Stephenson claims he started to run out through a hall to a stairway leading to his room and was followed by the two Brewers. He claims Tom Brewer grabbed him in the hall and began to hit him and that he then shot Russell Brewer. Immediately after opened fire on Stephenson, firing one bullet, which struck Stephenson in the left arm. Stephenson managed to break away and ran up the stairs. Only two shots were fired according to all eye witnesses.

Stephenson later asked James Butcher of the White Bear Hotel to accompany him to the police station, which he did. There his wound was dressed by Dr. W. E. Gault.

According to Sheriff Riekey, Stephenson called on him yesterday and said he was afraid he was going to have trouble at the White Bear. He says that his life had been threatened several times yesterday. "I owe you a killin' and you will get it before the day is over," Stephenson said last night that these were the words Russell Brewer used when they met in the soft drink parlor earlier in the day.

According to Stephenson, Brewer emptied his gun before the officers arrived. He says that Brewer exhibited a loaded gun several times yesterday and that he was looking for trouble.

Served in War Together
Thomas Brewer was born in Robertson county, Kentucky, the son of Capt. A. W. Brewer, who lives in Rome, Ohio, but was visiting with his son at the time of the killing.

Capt. Brewer says that his son served under him in the Spanish American War, and that Stephenson was in the same company. They served in Co. N, Third Kentucky Volunteers.

Capt. Brewer is also a veteran of the Civil War. He is 73 years of age, and said he ran away and misrepresented his age to get in the Union army, enlisting in the 18th Kentucky.

Had Three Children
Thomas Brewer is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mildred, who lives in Cincinnati, and Alice at home; one son, Russell and his aged father.

Capt. Brewer, hardly able to walk, and going about on crutches, appeared at the police station last evening shortly after the death of his son, and told his story to the police there, explaining graphically how the three served in the Spanish war together, and stating that he was almost positive that Stephenson deserted during the service.

Statement Of Eye Witnesses
B. S. Watkins, an eye witness to the killing told this story:

"The Brewers and Stephenson had been having trouble all afternoon. About 7:15 Stephenson came up to his room and got his gun, claiming that he 'wouldn't take anything off the —' I tried to persuade him not to take his gun, but he was persistent and I believe he intended to shoot 'Shag' Brewer."

"Mr. Glenn and I went down stairs, following Stephenson. Tom Brewer came across the street."

"Raymond Harr, a boy who lives at the Brewer home, was standing between 'Shag' and Stephenson, so Stephenson did not shoot 'Shag'."

"Tom Brewer then stepped up to

THE GUN USER'S CONFESSION

Stephenson's confession made to Chief Distel was as follows: "Russell Brewer came in the soft drink place late this evening for the third time and raised a fuss."

"Whom did he raise a fuss with?" asked Chief Distel.

He raised it with me. He said I had blown my head off with him. I said there wasn't any use of having trouble, and walked away. He went outside after Butcher gave him his rent-money back, and I was standing with my back to the door when 'Old Man Brewer' who had just come in, grabbed me and hit me on the head. I jerked loose and ran back through a hall to a door when he caught me. I was trying to get up the stairs. He had me fast and I pulled my gun from my pocket and shot him. I thought I was going to get killed. Russell Brewer was right behind his father. He shot me in the arm immediately after I shot the 'old man'."

"How did it happen you didn't shoot any more?" asked the chief.

"I ran up stairs."

"Did your brother follow you?"

"No."

"Then what did you do after you went up stairs?"

"I put the gun in the drawer."

"Now, when did you get that gun?"

"I got it about thirty minutes before the shooting after Russell had told me he was going to kill me."

"After you put the gun away what did you do?"

"I got Jim Butcher to come with me and came to the police station to get a doctor."

"How many times did you shoot?"

"Only once."

Stephenson and told him he wanted to talk to him. Stephenson refused to talk to Brewer. Brewer slapped him, and Stephenson shot.

"Tom Brewer felt and 'Shag' fired over his father's fallen body, striking Stephenson just as the latter was going through the room of one of the other occupants of the hotel."

Frank Glenn, another eye witness who was with Watkins corroborated the statement of Watkins.

Russell Brewer's Statement.
Russell Brewer, soon after being brought to the police station made the following statement concerning the shooting to Chief of Police Distel:

Stephenson had been grousing at me two or three days. This fight started over James Butcher and Raymond Harr having a fight after Raymond had slapped Butcher. Then Butcher told me and Raymond to leave. We left and went over to father's home on Front street. This was about six o'clock. I figured I had two dollars and a half coming to me and I went back to get it about a quarter of seven. I was arguing with James Butcher about this money due me when my father came up. Stephenson was standing in the front door of the soft drink place and he was mixing in the argument.

The "old man" came over and said to Stephenson "come here a minute." Stephenson said something back and the "old man" stopped up to him, and Stephenson started to run, and the "old man" slapped him. As they got in the hall, Stephenson wheeled and shot the "old man". The "old man" by this time had got hold of Stephenson's coat tails, and jerked him back into the hall. Stephenson broke away and started in a room, and I shot him as he was running. I shot only once.

"Where did you go after the shooting?" asked Chief Distel.

"I got hold of father's arm and helped him home. Then I called a doctor."

"Where did you go then?"

"I walked back over on Second street. Then from there to the Interstate barn, on Fifth street. I went into the barn and called up to the hospital and asked how father was. I heard he was at the hospital. I threw away the empty shell. I went home and gave the gun to Mrs. Bolton, who asked me for it."

"How far were you from your father when Stephenson shot him?" asked Chief Distel.

"Did your father say he was shot?"

"Yes, he said, I am hurt."

"Then you did the shooting after that?"

"Now what led up to the quarrel between you and Stephenson?" asked Chief Distel.

"It started over my throwing a fire cracker in the afternoon, down on the sidewalk near Stephenson, and he claimed it hurt him. Just before my father came over, Stephenson and I renewed this argument, and he left me and went upstairs and I think he got his gun then. That was about five minutes before father came."

"What did Stephenson say when he came back down stairs?"

"He said I wasn't going to whip him. I told him I did not want to have any trouble with him."

"Father came in about then and the shooting followed."

For a short time after the shooting occurred, the police were of the opinion that Russell Brewer had shot both Stephenson and his father, slaying the latter by accident, which was the first story Stephenson told the police, in attempting to explain his wound.

At first they were inclined to believe his story because of the fact that Russell Brewer had, apparently, disappeared and the story seemed to be logical.

In checking up on it, however, Chief Distel and the members of the police force interviewed eye witnesses including Stephenson's wife, and the fact was brought to light that Stephenson had got his gun and that he had shot Tom Brewer.

After interviewing many witnesses and arresting Russell Brewer, who was found at the home of his mother, 245 Front street, the police again interviewed Stephenson, laid the facts before him, and Chief Distel told him the best thing he could do was to tell the truth about the matter.

When confronted with the mass of evidence which had piled up against him, Stephenson broke down and confessed, admitting substantially all that he had been charged with, telling how he went up and got his gun, and how he had shot Brewer.

Stephenson stated that the trouble started over the fact that he had told Deputy Sheriff Frank Bennett, who, yesterday afternoon, together with Geo. Rayburn, an officer of the state prohibition enforcement forces, raided the White Bear, that the Brewers were bringing liquor into the hotel.

This, Stephenson claimed, enraged the Brewers and started the trouble.

Coroner's Verdict
Coroner J. D. Hendrickson, Dr. Carl G. Brannin and Dr. T. C. Crawford, held a post mortem examination over Brewer's remains at the Duellier morgue, and determined that the bullet entered the body between the fifth and sixth ribs, on the right side; ranged backward, slightly downward, and to the center, passing out between the eleventh and twelfth ribs on the right side, lodging in the back, about one and one-half inch from the center line. The bullet perforated the liver, resulting in a hemorrhage of the liver, which was the direct cause of death.

Has Wife, Four Children
Stephenson, who is accused of shooting Tom Brewer, has a wife, Mrs. Emma Stephenson and four children: Morris, aged 17, who is in the U. S. A. Calvary, George 19, Charles 10 and Erie K. who are at home. Stephenson formerly resided in Kentucky.

SOCIETY
Dr. and Mrs. Howard Moore and daughter, Sara Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Switalski and daughter, Harriet, motored to Mineral Springs, Tuesday, and spent the day at the Norfolk Hotel.

Mrs. Mary E. Lauman of Laumanhurst entertained with an all day picnic the Fourth. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Miller and daughters, Marie and Marguerite, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Green and children, Herbert, Martha and Mary Caroline, Mrs. George Watkins, Miss Christine Harris and Mr. Cleve Star of Seattle, Washington, who is spending the summer at Laumanhurst.

Park Rapids, Minnesota. "I have taken your medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—when I was a girl for pains and before and after my marriage. I now have a sweet little baby boy and will send you his picture if you wish to publish it. My sisters also take your medicine and find it a great help, and I recommend it to those who suffer before their babies are born."

—Mrs. Wm. JOHNSON, Box 155, Park Rapids, Minn.

To marry and arrive at middle age without children is a great disappointment to many women. Think of the joy and comfort other women have in their children as they grow older.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to bring great happiness to many families by restoring women to health. Often the childless home is due to a run down condition of the wife, which may be helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It brought health and happiness into the home of Mrs. Johnson. Why not yours?

The marriage of Miss Emilie Jane Wilhelm, beautiful and attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wilhelm, and Mr. Sam Wilson, of Cleveland, was joyfully and beautifully solemnized Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 636 Fourth street.

Snap-dragons, gladiators and daisies formed a pretty back ground for the impressive double ring ceremony, which was performed at half after two o'clock by Rev. W. H. Gleiser of the First Presbyterian church. The young couple were unattended and the ceremony was witnessed by the immediate family of the bride.

Miss Wilhelm, who is an unusually charming young woman, looked girlish and pretty in her wedding gown of white crepe knit, and wore a corsage of bride's roses and snap-dragons.

Mr. Wilson and his bride left in the afternoon for a wedding trip to Cincinnati, Oxford, Delaware and Niagara Falls, where they will visit the groom's relatives before going to Cleveland, where they will make their future home. The bride's traveling costume was a handsome blue caftan crepe dress with harmonizing accessories.

Mrs. Wilson has been located in Cleveland for the past few years, where she has been teaching in the Cleveland public schools. Previous to going there she taught in the local schools.

Mr. Wilson is a construction engineer and superintendent at Cleveland. He is a splendid young man well worthy of his charming bride.

Previous to the wedding the bride and party and their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wilhelm, parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cookes and sons Charles and George, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Taylor and son Richard, brother-in-law and sisters and nephews of Mrs. Wilson, formed a dinner party at the hotel Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane Dinsmore entertained a number of friends on the Fourth at dinner. Covers were laid for the following guests: Mrs. Helen Wenhouer, Mrs. James Keyser, Mrs. J. L. Dinsmore, Mrs. Will Leah, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Wenhouer and daughter, Martha Lane. Later in the day they motored to Chillicothe.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wenhouer entertained his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wenhouer, of Chillicothe, the Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Gleiser and family motored to Lakeside, where they will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wilhelm of Toledo, who have a cottage there.

WHY GROW FAT?

Druggist Tells of Easy Pleasant Way to Keep Trim Attractive Figure Even at Middle Age
Thousands of women who have had a trim, stylish figure all their lives, begin to take on weight in early middle life. And because they have heard of "Fat and Forty" and because foolish starvation diets, ridiculous exercises and certain medicines only seem to make their condition worse, they give up all hope and say, "Oh, well, I'm fat anyway."

Fat that shows—that comes and stays is not only cumbersome, but may prove dangerous, a decided disadvantage to your necessary activity and pleasures. So why stay that way?

No special exercises or diets! No dangerous or sickening medicines! Just a cooling, sparkling, aperient pleasant to take—but quickly and noticeably effective.

Wurster Bros. or any good druggist can supply you with a large bottle of Wendell's Seltz Ambition Brand, for 50 cents and will return your money on the first bottle purchased if you are not more than satisfied—Advertisement.

Health is wealth itself—and depends more upon the selection of proper food than upon anything else.
The reason is simple—the right kind of food digests promptly and is absorbed into the blood for building sound tissue; while food that digests slowly may ferment and lead to serious conditions.
Grape-Nuts—the delicious cereal food made from whole wheat flour and malted barley—is so easy to digest that even delicate people and young children thrive on it.
This is only natural, because Grape-Nuts is baked for 20 hours, which transforms and partially pre-digests the starch elements, resulting in easy digestion and quick assimilation.

Detective Force Doubled

(Huntington Herald Dispatch) The Chesapeake & Ohio detective force has been doubled in size during the past few days, according to announcement yesterday of Chief George A. Lenz. Sixty new men, many of them experienced police officers, have been added to this force. Chief Lenz stated, "We are not anticipating trouble." Chief Lenz said, "but we are prepared. The force of men that I have at my command is composed of seasoned men who will not lose their heads in an emergency," he asserted. The force is distributed along the Chesapeake & Ohio from Russell to Logan with a special detachment of fifteen veterans assigned to duty in the now deserted Chesapeake & Ohio shops here. These men are instructed to prevent destruction of railroad property and equipment.

KNIGHT REPLIES TO MASCHKE; DENIES HE'S SEEKING AID

AKRON, July 5.—Returning from a campaign trip, Congressman C. I. Knight, one of the Republican candidates for Governor, today replied to statements made by Maurice Maschke, clerk of the Ohio Senate, concerning his candidacy, and declaring that if anyone had asked Maschke to support him it was without his consent or knowledge.

"Such an assertion on the part of Maschke," said Congressman Knight, "is merely a trick to turn the mind of the people from one of the real issues, which is that these men and others have set up a man to nominate and are moving heaven and earth to do so."

In his statement today Congressman Knight declared that it had taken him a long time to deny that he was not present in the office of Rud Hynicka in New York "when Col. Thompson was announced as the chosen leader," and he continued, "I do not propose to allow either man to deflect me from my pet purpose of trying to get the truth about their interest in the campaign before the people of Ohio."

Congressman Knight again reiterated his statement about the "federal nephews" being turned loose upon him, and said that two years ago when he ran for Congress he had all the "special interests" against him and that he again welcomes them in a fight to the finish.

RAILWAY CLERKS HAVE NEVER HAD NATIONAL STRIKE; ONE IN PROSPECT

CINCINNATI, O., July 5.—Railway clerks, who are joining hands with the shop workers in the threatened rail strike, will experience their first national strike in event the walkout on the railroads goes into effect. In the 31 years since the union was organized there have been only four important strikes of the clerks, the most extensive involving only 2,000 men.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Railroad and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers Station and Express Employees, proud of their organization which now boasts 130,000 members, regard the clerks as the "backbone" in the impending walkout. They are the employees who make up the pay-rolls, handle the cash, operate the trains, consign the freight, make out train reports, and do the auditing and other necessary functions in the operation of an intricate system.

The clerks' strike involving 2,000 men, occurred in 1914 and 1912 on the Illinois Central railroad when the employees sought a new contract and increase in wages.

Other strikes were in 1914 when 1,000 men on the New York, New Haven and Hartford went out; at Roanoke, Va., in 1919, and on the Norfolk and Western in 1920 when some 600 men went out.

Three small strikes involving only a small number of men are now in progress, officials state.

K. Of P. Install Officers

Elliott, Chancellor; Commander: George Kalb, Vice-Chancellor; George Cornutte, President; John Andrews, Master at Arms; Rohl Wilson, Inner Guard and O. E. Burdham, Outer Guard.

It was also decided to keep the big picnic register open until Wednesday evening July 5th. The picnic for all K. of P.'s and their families will be held Saturday at the Guller Camp on Turkey Creek.

All D. O. K. K. members are urged to attend tonight's meeting when plans for the Waverly ceremonial to be held July 15th will be discussed. All who will take part in the Elphib Order, are requested to be present. The Master of Ceremonies promises refreshments for this meeting.

Baby's Sore Chafed Skin

The Cause of Untold Misery Nurse Tells How to Avoid It

Philadelphia, Pa.—"Sykes Comfort Powder has been used on this little boy with great success in keeping his skin free from chafing, scalding, rashes and soreness, which is the cause of so much misery among children. In my eleven years work as a nurse I have never found anything to equal Sykes Comfort Powder for this purpose."

—Lottie E. Sloper, Nurse, 4011 Pine St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The reason Sykes Comfort Powder is so successful in healing and preventing chafing, scalding, rashes and skin irritations is because it contains six healing and antiseptic ingredients not found in ordinary talcums. Physicians and nurses call it "a healing wonder."

Rail Strike

In excluding the six shop unions from further consideration by the board, Mr. Hooper denied that the board had "joined in a drive of the financial interests against organized labor."

Railway shopmen, who walked off their jobs last Saturday, played virtually a lone hand in the rail strike today. The wide rift in railroad circles clouds, showed yesterday when maintenance of way employees who include track workers and other common labor, definitely abandoned the idea of a walk-out at this time.

As a result of yesterday's conference nearly 400,000 maintenance of way men, who for a week were on the verge of a strike, will remain at work under protest against the $60,000,000 cut in their wages, pending negotiations for a readjustment of wage scales upon an appeal by the employees.

Railway clerks and station employees, some of whom polled a strike vote recently, have in many instances made separate agreements with their roads.

Await Stationary Firemen's Action
The railroads also waited today for the effect of the message of Timothy Healy, president of the stationary firemen and others, who told the 80,000 members of this organization that they had a perfect right to strike if they wished to.

Signalmen still were "on the fence," but it was believed in railroad circles that the signalmen would remain at work.

Conflicting Statements
Conflicting statements were made on the strike situation on the Pacific coast. Officials of the Southern Pacific said more than one-third of the shopmen remained at their posts and that others who had gone out, were returning. Union officials reiterated their statement that 90 per cent of the shopmen were out. Two men were arrested for violating anti-picketing laws.

Foremen of various railroad shops in the St. Louis district reported they had received many applications from strikers for reinstatement, but that most of the applications were being ignored pending rail strike developments.

The threatened extension of the strike of railway employees to 400,000 trackmen was averted today through the efforts of members of the United States Railroad Labor Board and officials of the United Maintenance of Way employees and Railroad Shop Laborers.

Postponement of the strike was announced last night by E. F. Grable, president of the maintenance of way organization after he and his executive council had conferred throughout the day with Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the labor board and W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the board.

Maintenance of the way chairmen were instructed to proceed to take up maintenance of way disputes with the individual roads, and in case an agreement is not reached, to refer the matter to the board. These disputes include the wage cut recently authorized by the labor board for maintenance of way employees, changes in maintenance of way rules and the contracting out of track work.

Cut In Wages Stands
Members were directed to continue work under the cut wages ordered by the labor board, effective July 1, but to withhold strike orders pending the carrying out of these matters.

It was also announced that an immediate ruling from the labor board will be sought absolving members from doing any work formerly done by members of other organizations on strike.

Jewell On "Outlawing"

Mr. Jewell today, replied to the pronouncement of the labor board of yesterday "outlawing" his organization by asserting that it was not the shopmen but the board itself that had been "outlawed." Mr. Jewell, in his letter to the board, asserted that that body had failed to negotiate a settlement between the shopmen and the carriers and reiterated his intention of dealing only with the roads in making a settlement.

President Harding, in an address at Marion, Ohio, today took cognizance of the labor situation when he declared that a man has a right to labor without any other's permission and that men also have the right to bargain collectively. "Governments," he added, "cannot tolerate any class or group of men dominating through force."

Engineers Complain
A complication involving the locomotive engineers arose today when Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said that he had received eight telegrams complaining that engineers were being ordered to take out trains which did not have the air hose coupled and that he was writing brotherhood members not to take out any such trains unless they received written instructions from the railway superintendents relieving them of all responsibility for the safety of the trains.

Failure to couple the hose properly was said to be caused by the strike affecting the inspection forces.

Cities Are Not Named
President Stone said he did not care to name the cities where such occurrences were reported, but said they were in congested territory and were in violation of interstate commerce regulations and state laws and involved both passenger and freight trains.

Railway officials here said they were having no trouble with air brakes.

Replacing Striking Shopmen

TOLEDO, O., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Rapid strides in replacing railroad shopmen, who went out on strike last Saturday, was reported in several of Toledo's most important railroad shops today.

The largest proportional replacement was claimed by the Michigan Central shops, where it was claimed by shop officials that fully fifty per cent of the vacancies caused by the strike had been filled.

Many applications for mechanics' positions have been received by the Pennsylvania company's office, and indications are that the strikers' jobs will be filled in a short time. It was stated at the offices of the company.

New men are being put to work steadily at the New York Central shops at Airline Junction, shop officials reported. But they decline to state the number or proportion of the old men whose jobs have been taken. No disorders between strike-breakers and unionists have been reported.

SHOPS HEAVILY PICKETED

NEW YORK, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Leaders of the striking shop crafts unions placed double forces of pickets around the railroad shops and yards today which is considered to be the first real test of the strength of the shopmen's strike.

Another reason for the increased activities to keep up the morale of the strikers is seen in the decision of the maintenance of way unions to remain at work pending the outcome of another conference with the labor board on their wage scale.

To Use Negroes As Car Cleaners
PARKERSBURG, W. VA., July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—About fifty negroes have arrived here from eastern and southern points and will be employed as car cleaners in the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad shops. It was announced last night. The negroes are located at the High Yard shops, their camp being surrounded by guards.

Leaders of the shopmen's union here said they knew the men had been brought in, but declined to comment regarding the importation.

Shops Go On Twelve Hours

COLUMBUS, O., July 4.—The Pennsylvania shops went on a 12 hour day schedule Monday night with two partially completed organizations, which it is declared will be able to take care of the repair work. However, union officials declare their ranks are holding and that there is no indication that the shopmen will return to work, while the railway officials insist there is a tendency among the men to return.

The union officials declare there will be a general drop in the yards since the engines used in yard work are constantly in need of repair and will be unable to be operated much longer without being sent to the shops.

Until officials emphatically declare that all trains are running on schedule.

Russian "Bread Loan"

Proves A Success

MOSCOW, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The soviet government's first internal loan is a success, according to the Russian newspapers. The ten million pool bread loan having been subscribed.

Russia's 1922 grain crops, according to present estimates, will reach a minimum of 3,500,000,000 pounds (63,000,000 tons), or 1,000,000,000 pounds more than those of last year. Acting Premier Kameneff told the correspondent today. If the yield is as large as expected it probably will be Russia's greatest crop since the war.

One Killed; Two Are Wounded In Sham Battle

PITTSBURGH, KANSAS, July 5.—(By the Associated Press)—One spectator was killed and two wounded by steel jacketed bullets mysteriously fired during a sham battle by members of the American Legion as a Fourth of July celebration. Glenn Harry, 78, is dead. Mrs. Charles Dehny and Edward O'Connor, a policeman, were wounded. All three were standing close together in the crowd which gave rise to the theory that the shots were aimed at some one in the crowd marked for death.

Legion men declared positively that their rifles had fired only blanks.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 5.—Heaviness of Mexican Petroleum, which soon declined 3 1/2 points, was the only exception to the higher trend of prices at the opening of today's stock market. Developments over the holiday evidently were favorably construed, judging from the firmer tone of the general list. Studebaker, Coca-Cola, and Dupont were among the stronger features at average gains of 1 point with Baltimore and Ohio, General Asphalt, Pullman, Virginia-Carolina Chemical and several of the secondary rails. Pan-American Petroleum was only slightly depressed by the reaction of Mexicans. Early exchange rates were irregular but higher in the main. German marks steady.

High records were established during the dull morning for a few selected issues. These included Coca-Cola, Mulliken and Dupont, the latter extending its gain to 6 points. Crucible led the independent steels, gaining 3/4 and the motors were featured by Studebaker and Mack Trucks at 2 point gains. Rails were not affected by strike conditions, showing further strength on buying of Louisville and Nashville, Union Pacific, Illinois Central, St. Paul and St. Louis and San Francisco pfd. The market wavered before noon, however, on renewed selling of Mexican and Pan-American Petroleum at extreme declines of 3 to 4 1/2 points. Call money opened at 4 1/2 per cent.

Rails were among the few stable or measuring features of today's stock market. The general list showed occasional unsettlement on the weakness of Mexican oils. Sales approximately 575,000 shares.

The closing was irregular.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, July 5.—Wheat declined in price today soon after the opening, although initial quotations showed some gains reflecting yesterday's advance in Liverpool and Winnipeg. Today's notices, however, indicated less cause for apprehension of crop damage. Developments regarding the railroad strike were also of a character to ease the market. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 3c higher, with September 1.17 to 1.17 1/2 and December 1.20 to 1.20 1/2 was followed by a setback all around to well below today's finish.

The market finished nervous and at the same as Monday's close to one cent down, with September 1.16 1/2 to 1.16 3/4 and Dec. 1.19 to 1.19 1/2. Corn and oats were firmer, chiefly as a result of elevator interests being active buyers of corn. After opening unchanged to 3/4c higher, September 49 1/2 to 50, the corn market continued to point upward. Oats started at 3 1/2c to 3 3/4c, September 38 1/2, and later showed a slight gain.

Provisions were firm in line with hog values.

The close was unsettled 1/2c to 3/4c net higher September 67 1/2.

Pomerene Mentioned In Senate As Presidential Candidate In 1924

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 5.—(By The Associated Press)—The first open reference in the senate to the possibility of Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, being the Democratic presidential candidate in 1924 was made today in the course of tariff debate. It came after Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, had predicted that "Warren G. Harding, a son of Ohio, the mother of presidents, would continue in the White House for many years to come."

Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, replied that although Senator Shortridge was right as to "a son of Ohio" occupying the presidency for a long time he had made a mistake in the name, and pointed to Senator Pomerene.

Probe Charges Against Employment Agencies

CLEVELAND, O., July 5.—(By The Associated Press)—Investigation of charges that employment agencies are hiring men to take the place of striking railroad shop men without telling them of the labor trouble, was begun here today by W. J. Biehsheimer, federal director of labor for Ohio.

Leaders of the striking shop craft men said their members are standing firm.

"If I find the charges are substantiated, the offenders will be prosecuted under action of the general code, which provides a maximum fine of $500," Biehsheimer said.

A few striking shop men returned to work today and a small number of mechanics were hired to take strikers' places, officers of railroads entering Cleveland said this morning.

"If I find the charges are substantiated, the offenders will be prosecuted under action of the general

Soft Tires waste power

If your tires are not properly inflated you ride on rubber instead of air. Power is wasted, the life of the tires is shortened, and troubles occur which are often annoying and expensive. Test every tire regularly with a gauge—not with the hand or the eye—and keep them at the pressure named by the tire manufacturer.

Proper inflation of tires is one of a number of things which affect the mileage you get from a gallon of gasoline. Read about the others in that interesting, comprehensive booklet, "Gasoline." Free at Red Crown service stations and dealers.

Woman playing hide and seek with a tree on Waller street Tuesday night. Every time the headlights of an auto would loom in sight she would circle the tree. When her sweetie arrived on the scene she was so dizzy that he thought she had been drinking moonshine.

GOOD LIGHTING IS ONE OF THE ADVANTAGES OF ELECTRICITY

EDISON-MAZDA LAMPS

The Portsmouth Street Railroad & Light Co.
917 OFFNERE STREET

That the officials of the Vulcan Last Company are unanimously and enthusiastically behind their ball club that is now setting the pace in the Industrial Baseball League, was conclusively demonstrated Monday evening when the team was honored a complimentary banquet at the Washington hotel.

The officials of the company gave a banquet order to Manager Clarence "Shorty" Shultz—one that permitted him to go as far as he liked when it came to the arrangement of the bill of fare. And the feed was one of the best ever served at the popular hostelry, including spring chicken, and all the trimmings—being a severe course affair.

There were two purposes for the banquet—one was to show the appreciation of the company for the heady, aggressive game the team was playing; second to give Manager Shultz and the players a chance to mingle socially and thus cement the friendly spirit that is existing. Manager Shultz is one of the fairest sportsmen that ever lived in these parts. He holds in the highest esteem and his judgment never questioned by his players, the club is out there fighting as one man for every game that is played.

Manager Shultz gave the boys a heart to heart talk—telling them that while he was sure to make mistakes, that he always planned to do what was best for the success of the team. "Sometimes I may play a man on the bench when he thinks he should be out on the field, but remember, boys, that I always have a reason. I will make mistakes—all men do, but I will never allow any personal feelings to interfere in my managerial conduct," said Manager Shultz in his little talk to his players. The spirit among the team is splendid, and the players are going to show their appreciation for the liberality of the company by getting there on the Seventeenth street yards and playing their heads off in the highest esteem and his judgment never questioned by his players, the club is out there fighting as one man for every game that is played.

BRENNAN AND MARTIN FIGHT 12 ROUND DRAW ACCORDING TO THE HUNTINGTON SPORT WRITERS

Both Men In Fine Shape
And Bout Is Enjoyed By 3,000
Fans; Nig Blair Wins Easily

HUNTINGTON, July 5.—Two good American boys, Bob Martin, of West Virginia, and Bill Brennan, of Illinois, celebrated the glorious fourth of July at Cliffside Park, Ky., by slugging their way through twelve rounds to a draw decision. There were no knockdowns, but both scrappers inhaled enough punishment to have killed an ordinary man. Martin and Brennan have been like lions. They are supermen of the ring. The sporting world salutes them.

The mob will talk about the fight for several crecent moons to come, and what a mob of sportsmen it was. The ring worms were there from everywhere. It was the greatest fistic gathering that ever assembled around these diggings. There was close to 3,000 fans inside the arena.

Brennan had the fight won by a decisive margin up to the sixth round. At that time it looked as if Martin would have to score a knock-out to win. It didn't seem possible that the youthful mountaineer could step in and turn the tide in his favor on points, the way Brennan was stepping around—cool, confident and amazingly effective. Yet, that's what happened.

The soldier champion was slow in getting started. He couldn't seem to find himself. In the first few frames he seldom swung his mighty right haymaker, and when he did he was as wild as a southpaw pitcher. It takes an accurate hitter to land on a boxer, who has the generalship and footwork of a Brennan. But Martin couldn't go on missing for ever. So early as the second round, Jimmie Bronson started shouting, "Turn it loose. Turn it loose," but it wasn't until the start of the sixth, when the fracas was half over, that the Terra Alta lad found the correct adjustment on his right "sock-er." Then things began to happen. He rocked Brennan with stiff swings from the chin and jarred him from head to toes with long shots to the "tummy." The ringsters could see Bill's mouth fly open when Bob rammed him where he packs his lunch. The sixth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth were all Martin's. He looked better in the last round than at any time during the afternoon. The final bell was a welcome sound to both boys. Their heads were ringing wet with perspiration and their hair hung down on their foreheads in loose strings. The left side of Martin's face was puffed almost out of shape and his left eye was cut. Brennan's eye was puffed and bleeding. Neither face was easy to look upon. Both men seemed leg-weary as the gong ended the festivities. They shook hands, smiled and retired to their corners. Two good American boys. We salute them.

Had it been a longer fight, Martin might have won by a knockout. Brennan was badly mugged up. On the other hand, had it been an eight rounder the Chicagoan would have won beyond the shadow of a doubt.

Blair In a Walk

In the semi-final, a ten round bout between "Nig" Blair, the Portsmouth Panther, and "Kid" Coster of Charleston, Blair scored a technical knockout in the second round. Coster appeared out of shape and was unable to stand the terrific pace that Blair set. During his stay in the ring the "Wood wall city" boxer was pushing the fight and had Coster beaten in the final round. Coster didn't get in a single blow on "smiling Nig" that even rattled him. In the first round Blair sent a left uppercut to Coster's jaw that sent him to the canvas for the count of nine and repeated his act in the second when he floored the Charleston puncher for the count of six. Coster was floored by the same old left hook that has caused many and many a good man to take the count of ten and it is probable that if the fight had gone four rounds that Blair would have sent over the sleeping puncher. Blair had been hitting hard all the time and Coster was unable to defend himself at all, and never gave the Portsmouth fighter a good workout.

TIE GAME

NEW YORK, July 5.—In one of the most spectacular games ever played at the Polo Grounds the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers battled to a 5-5 tie Tuesday afternoon. Wet grounds caused a postponement of the morning game.

Hawkins tied the score for the Giants with a homer in the third with two men on and the New Yorks went into the lead in the seventh. Johnston brought in the tying run for Brooklyn in the ninth with a triple, but was caught at the plate trying to stretch the hit. Each team scored a run in the tenth and rain ended the game after the fourteenth inning. Score:

BOSTON, July 4.—Because of rain and wet grounds, Philadelphia and Boston played only one game Tuesday instead of the scheduled double header, Philadelphia winning 5-3. The visitors played under protest after McCormick had refused to permit Fletcher to play. CHINA AS FRIEND OF U. S.

TWO Americans who are familiar with conditions in China express in an impressive manner the belief that notwithstanding the civil war now raging that country has a bright outlook. They hope that other nations will not interfere in the internal struggle but will let the Chinese work out their own political salvation, which is said to be competent to do. Those who make this plea are David Willard Lyon, a Y. M. C. A. secretary in China and Dr. J. Leighton Stuart, president of Peking University.

Remembering the tribulations which our own country suffered in its infancy, remembering our own civil war, and well knowing what unhappy results would have followed foreign intervention in our affairs, we may look forward with confidence to the emergence of China out of her troubles and into a place among the great powers. If other nations will keep their hands off. In the meantime let us, as Dr. Stuart suggests, assist the Chinese people through this present period of weakness by educating them, by giving them knowledge of our applied sciences, and by aiding in their moral and religious enlightenment and development.

The friendship of a nation of 400,000,000 people is worth cultivating. It will pay us to give a helping hand to the struggling new republics of the world. Besides, it is in conformity with our traditional policy: witness our attitude a century ago towards the new South American republics, for whose benefit as well as our own the Monroe Doctrine was promulgated. The friendship which France showed the United States during the revolution was profitable to her, for it led us the more readily to go to her assistance in the World War. Similarly, the Chinese are not likely to forget services which we may render them during their period of travail.

AN ERRONEOUS OPINION

MUCH mischief has been done by reiteration of the false statement that the transportation act provides for a guaranteed return on the investment in railroads. A great many people have been misled into believing that the carrying companies have been made special wards of the government to be fattened at the expense of the public. And now the false witnesses are going farther. It was gravely stated yesterday in a dispatch from Washington that opponents of the "railway guarantee provisions which amount to virtual subsidy" also are opposed to the proposed ship subsidy, the intent being to put the two propositions on a level of supposed infamy. Yet they are as different as night is from day, which is not to affirm that either is infamous.

The sole reason for attempting to assure a reasonable profit through efficient management of the railroads is the land transportation companies cannot be allowed to suspend operations. In the public interest they must carry on. They must pay their own way simply because they have no sources of revenue save the service they perform. When the government assumes the right to fix rates it is bound in fairness to make them equal to the necessities of the companies. If it does not do that it will be compelled to subsidize them or to take over their management, in which case it would have to make up out of general funds any shortage of revenues from service. The provision made for the railroads is far from being a subsidy. It is simply a recognition of the claim of equity.

So far as the ocean carrying trade is concerned, whether or not a subsidy is granted ship owners will manage their own affairs. They will not operate at a loss. There will be no power to compel them to operate at all against their will. If they tie up their vessels there will be ships of foreign registry to carry our goods and persons. There will be no force of public opinion, no public necessity requiring that American ships be kept on the seas. But our railroads cannot stop. The whole people would suffer more than the companies if they did. For that reason when the government asserts its power of supervision it must act with concern for maintaining the land carriers in condition to give uninterrupted service. Doing this is not granting a subsidy nor is it analogous to subsidization.

If the interstate commerce wants to really do something for the public, it might revise passenger rates downward.

THE BIBLE IN PICTURES AND TEXT

OTHNIEL AND EHUD

THE first of the judges was Othniel, who delivered the children of Israel from the king of Mesopotamia. After Othniel died the people sinned again and the king of Moab fought against Israel and made them his servants. They cried to the Lord and He made Ehud judge over them. Ehud went to the king and told him he had a secret message from God. When the king dismissed his servants Ehud thrust a dagger into the king, then fled to mount Ephraim and called the men of Israel, who fought the Moabites, slaying thousands, and Israel was victorious.

New York-Day-By-Day

By G. C. HARTLEY

NEW YORK, July 5.—Manhattan has its midnights with the hope of new conquests. The irruption takes place around the luncheon hour when they sweep out of the towering office buildings into lower Broadway, Wall and Nassau streets. They are symbols of youth and audacity.

The Paris midnights is somewhat the genuine carrying handboxes and packages. But in New York she is an office worker who is simply stenciling as a step upward—perhaps toward the footlights or an avenue mansion.

There is a chain of restaurants owned by three New Yorkers. The first is the financial banker, the second attends to the cuisine and the third is a newspaperman with a decorative gift. He was called in when all the places were losing money. One by one he made them huge successes. But whenever they decide to open a new restaurant the newspaperman will have nothing to do with it and it never succeeds. "I always want one failure in the chain," he said, "just to remind my partners that they cannot make money with me."
